

COVID-19 UPDATE

Local cases rise; DBCH urges use of mitigation steps

by Kate Goldsmith

In the course of a few weeks, Dutchess County has gone from having a low risk of COVID-19 transmission to a high risk. The combination of highly transmissible variants and a pandemic-weary public has yielded jumps in active cases and hospitalizations. As of May 15, confirmed active cases were at 844, up from 739 the previous week; on May 1 the count was 495, and on March 27 it was 125.

“About a little more than a month ago, Vassar Brothers did not have one patient in the hospital who had COVID,” said Dr. William Begg, the vice president of medical affairs at Vassar Brothers Medical Center, “and now our numbers have crept up in the past few weeks.”

On the county’s COVID-19 Dashboard, hospitalizations are sub-categorized as those admitted due to complications from COVID, and those who were admitted for another issue but tested positive for COVID-19 (labeled “with COVID”). The latest statistics show hospitalizations due to COVID were at 21 on May 15, up significantly from 3 on March 27. Hospitalizations with COVID are at 12, up from 5 on March 27.

One of the challenges going forward, Dr. Begg said, is not every patient who comes into the emergency room is tested for COVID, so exact numbers are not known.

He added, “The CDC numbers locally are less than valid, and it’s not because they’re not doing a good job. It’s that our community has the ability to do home tests. Many, many people have tested positive on home tests and not reported [the results].”

The Centers for Disease Control (CDC) measures risk using the following metrics:

Kids ready for debut of ‘Littlest Farmers Market’

by Curtis Schmidt

It started three years ago with a question, a hopeful look on the face of a child and a farmer/business owner who loves to help kids.

The result of all of that will culminate in the first edition of the “Littlest Farmers Market,” scheduled Sunday, May 22 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the parking lot of Hackett Farm Supply at 2297 Salt Point Turnpike (just off the Taconic Parkway, Exit 58).

And yes, everyone is invited to attend.

Founder Scott Davis terms the market “a kid’s lemonade stand on steroids.” It’s basically a farmers market for kids with three simple rules: 1. You have to be 12-years-old or younger; 2. You have to have grown, picked, created or crafted what you’re selling; and 3. You want to have a great time with other kids.

He is expecting about 25 kids with booths and a 4-H education booth.

“There won’t be any livestock for sale,” Davis said with a chuckle, “But

Open House on May 28 to show progress at Thorne Building

While much of the attention of the Millbrook Community Partnership (MCP) has been focused on the razing of beloved Bennett College and its pending transformation into an outdoor park, there’s another aspect that will soon be unveiled.

The MCP is inviting the community an Open House at the Thorne Building Community Center on Saturday, May 28, from 9 a.m. to noon to tour the inside of the historic building and see the progress made so far in the renovation and revitalization of another of Millbrook’s iconic properties.

Children’s activities are planned near the bandshell located next door to the Thorne Building to allow parents time to tour the building.

In its 127th year, Millbrook’s historic Thorne Building is undergoing a major renaissance that encompasses exterior restoration and interior renovation of the venerable structure, and a redesign of its beautiful grounds.

The Thorne Building Community Center will serve as the community's cultural anchor, facilitating connections through imaginative programming and state-of-the-art technology.

The Thorne Building has been emblematic of Millbrook, New York, since 1895, when it was gifted to the Village by the Thorne family. Until 1962, the three-story Beaux Arts structure served as Millbrook's first public high school. Since then, it has seen only sporadic use and in recent years has fallen into disrepair.

With recently completed asbestos abatement, the MCP is now ready to begin renovations to its historic exterior and its beautiful interiors. A re-imagined Thorne Building Community Center will serve as a communal gathering space where multiple groups, from seniors to youth, from full-time residents to weekenders, can connect as a community.

The new Thorne Building Community Center will serve the Village of Millbrook, the Town of Washington, and central Dutchess County by offering programs for all ages. That includes:

- Performing Arts Center for dramatic arts, dance, music, lectures, film, and social events;
- Culinary Center and Instructional Kitchen
- Technology Center
- Video Gaming Room
- Studio for Art Classes
- Music/Recording Studio
- Dance Class Studio
- "Smart" Classrooms

there's sure to be farm animals for the families to enjoy."

"And bunnies and chicks," his daughter, Siena, said with a smile. "I'll be selling homemade popsicles made from fresh juices and herbs."

Kids will be selling farm fresh eggs, soap, popsicles, bracelets, art, jewelry, baked goods, flowers, you name it.

Davis said, "I have a feeling if we do more markets throughout the summer, which is our intent, there will be more produce and garden vegetables."

The real beginning

The idea for all of this came to Davis just before the pandemic hit. Siena had asked him to talk to local businesses to see if she could set up her lemonade stand in their parking lot.

"My third attempt landed me at the cash register of Hackett Farm Supply," he said. "I could barely get two words out when (owner) Ed Hackett interrupted me after spotting my daughter out of the corner of his eye. 'Absolutely!' he said. 'I'd rather see a kid outside in the sunshine working and having a good time, than sitting on a couch on their iPad.'"

After three weekends selling lemonade at Hackett's, a light bulb went off in Davis' head. "Why not have a farmers market run by kids?"

The delay caused by COVID-19 gave

Davis and his daughter and the team at Hackett time to plan and bring the idea to fruition.

"Support and an open mind were the most important ingredients of all," Davis said of team at Hackett.

Colleen Hackett is handling logistics with sponsors for tables and canopies. Williams Lumber and Home Centers has donated two canopies and Land of Oz and Crown Energy are helping out with cash donations. In addition, Chancellor Livingston Elementary School in Rhinebeck and Dutchess Day School have both featured the "Littlest Farmers Market" in their newsletters.

"We really want it to be an entire community-involved event," said Davis. "Our vision is to create a safe, free, welcoming environment for children to run their own small businesses. The goal is to keep things simple and fun. No matter what items the kids dream up, 'Littlest Farmers Market' is there to empower them to bring their ideas to market."

They are also working on a "suggested donation" of non-profit organizations so the kids can learn to give back to the community.

And they want to "grow the market," so all children 12-and-under are encouraged to sign up at the website littlestfarmersmarket.com.

Historic marker celebration set for 'Ghost of Fiddler's Bridge'

"The Ghost of Fiddler's Bridge" is a famous saga in the Town of Clinton. It's full of all the key ingredients - murder, robbery, ghosts and even a song. And now Town of Clinton residents will have a historical marker to preserve the legend.

A celebration of the installation of the new historic road marker on Fiddlers Bridge Road in the Town of Clinton is set for Sunday, May 22 at 2 p.m. at the Primrose Hill Farm at 203 Fiddlers Bridge Road.

The Clinton Historical Society obtained a grant from the W.G. Pomeroy Foundation to purchase a permanent metal sign commemorating the local legend of the Fiddlers Bridge ghost. The legend notes the 1808 murder of a local fiddler on his way home after playing at a dance. His body was found under a bridge (long gone) on what is now Fiddlers Bridge Road.

The celebration will include a portrayal of the fiddler reciting the legend, local musician Vito Petrocitto performing his original song "The Legend of Fiddler's Bridge Road," a hayride, light refreshments, and the unveiling of the sign. All are welcome to attend this free event hosted by the Clinton Historical Society.

Editor's note: The following is reprinted from the Clinton Historian Vol. 19-1. In 1992, Viola and Emil Schoch re-enacted the 1908 event by inviting several Society members to visit the site on their tractor-towed hay wagon in the evening. Yes, violin music was clearly heard, as played by a local talented teen wearing a white sheet over her head.

The Ghost of Fiddlers Bridge by Craig Marshall & Viola Schoch

Murder! - Robbery! - Ghosts! Such is the stuff that makes for great legends, in this case, our most famous ghost legend of Clinton. The road connecting Pleasant Plains and Schultsville is named Fiddlers Bridge commemorating a tale that began in 1808.

It was September 7 when an old local resident who used to play his fiddle at dances and festivals was found dead on a bridge on this narrow, winding road. Allegedly, he had been robbed and murdered on his way home after playing for a dance, and the bridge was later named Fiddlers Bridge.

According to tradition, the fiddler's ghost can be heard playing the fiddle on certain moonlit evenings between 10 and

To celebrate the 200th anniversary of the event, in 2008, former Town of Clinton Supervisor Ray Oberly and Town Historian Craig Marshall re-enacted the murder for a newsletter article. Ray (the murderer) shot Craig (the fiddler) with Craig's antique flintlock pistol. Photo by Dick Coller midnight at the site, which no longer contains a bridge.

Long-time Society member Viola Schoch, who lives on Fiddlers Bridge Road, recalls an event that occurred 100 years later. She recounts:

"It seems that the town supervisor back in 1908 was my Grandma Cookingham's brother Charlie Carpenter. Grandma lived here on the hill with her husband John Calvin and their four sons. Uncle Charlie Carpenter lived in Frost Mills and earned his living as an auctioneer. There were boarding houses in Frost Mills and Pleasant Plains, and Uncle Charlie enjoyed sharing the fiddler story with those summer guests from the Big City. They said his story was just plain foolishness.

"Well, Uncle Charlie would show them. A couple of nights later, September 7, 1908, exactly 100 years after the fiddler's death, he swung into action. He gathered up those disbelievers with his hay wagon. Some of the Plains young men went along too. They were my father Harlow Cookingham, age 23, and his brother Phil (Don Cookingham's father), age 19. I know that this is all true because my dad shared it many times with our summer house guests! When the lumber wagon approached the bridge, to the amazement of almost all, the fiddler began to fiddle with great gusto.

"Oh, my, those city folk would never again object to the authenticity of the story. They'd gladly name the bridge Fiddler's Bridge. And later the Town would name the road Fiddlers Bridge Road in honor of that old fiddler. That's my tale, folks. Oh, but I almost forgot one thing about that September night in 1908. Uncle Charlie and the boys had an absolutely marvelous evening!"

Delgado officially launches campaign for Lt. Governor

Antonio Delgado has announced that the Delgado for New York campaign committee is officially open.

Last week, Governor Kathy Hochul announced that Delgado is the Lieutenant Governor-designate and will be a Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor in this year's elections. Now, Antonio Delgado has formally created the campaign committee to run his statewide campaign and promises to run an innovative, dynamic campaign that reaches out to every New Yorker.

Delgado has quickly gotten to work building out his campaign operation. The launch includes Delgado's new campaign website, delgadofornyc.com, helping to introduce him to voters in advance of both the June 28 primary and the November 8 general election.

"In just one short week, I've heard excitement from New Yorkers of all walks of life, many of whom are meeting me for the first time," said Congressman Delgado. "Now that our Delgado for New York campaign is officially up and running, I hope folks start to get a better sense of who I am, and I look forward to earning their trust in the coming weeks."

Ukraine emergency fundraiser set at The Stissing Center June 5

The Stanford, NY. Friends of Ukraine (just some ordinary folks who want to do their part) have arranged a Ukraine Emergency Fundraiser at The Stissing Center in Pine Plains, Sunday June 5 from 1 to 4 p.m.

The event will blend a combination of music, food, speeches, and generosity into a show of support for Ukraine and Sunflower of Peace to help Ukrainians endure the otherwise unendurable.

The event will include performances by the legendary David Byrne, Ukrainian Folk Band Korinya, and the view from NATO's Eastern Flank provided by Estonian diplomat Eerik Niiles Kross.

All of the funds raised in this campaign go to Sunflower of Peace, a Boston based 501(C)(3) established and working in Ukraine since 2014.

COVID-19 Update: Local cases rise; DBCH urges use of mitigation steps

- Total number of new admissions of patients with confirmed COVID-19 in the past seven days divided by the total population in the Health Service Area, multiplied by 100,000 (high risk is 20 or greater). On Monday morning, Dutchess County's community transmission rate was 60.26.

- New COVID-19 admissions per 100,000 population (7-day total; high risk is 10 or greater). Dutchess' count is 11.6.

- Percentage (7-day average) of staffed inpatient beds in use by patients with confirmed COVID-19 within the entire Health Service Area (high risk is 15 percent or greater). This number is currently not problematic at 4.3 percent.

- Percent of staffed inpatient beds in use by COVID-19 patients (7-day average; high risk is 10 percent or greater). Again, at 3.8 percent, this number is not in the high range.

Mitigation steps still effective

"It's my opinion, now that we're in the third year of the pandemic, people are burned out and tired of hearing about Covid," said Dr. Begg. "But if you're high risk or in crowded [situations], you should wear a mask."

Mask-wearing is one of several steps that have proven to be effective at mitigating risk of infection. Another is to get vaccinated and boosted, if eligible.

"I think there's a huge amount of value to the second booster," said Dr. Begg. "The reason why there's value: the Pfizer and Moderna vaccines start to wear off after 5-8 months. That's why getting the booster is incredibly important. We have not seen anyone die from Covid who had two boosters. They might get sick but not [get] the severe complications."

The Dutchess County Department of Behavioral & Community Health (DBCH) wants residents to know the COVID-19 vaccines are safe, effective and readily available throughout the community, including at local pharmacies, doctors' offices, urgent-care facilities, medical practices and the county's Immunization Clinic.

And, of course, there is the age-old advice of regular hand-washing with soap and water (vigorous scrubbing for 20 seconds is recommended); or using hand sanitizer when necessary.

If you do get sick...

The CDC and DBCH recommend getting tested when not feeling well or potentially exposed. Report positive test to healthcare providers to discuss eligibility for treatments. Free test kits are available at local pharmacies and other locations throughout the community, including Dutchess County Government offices and buildings.

Health experts urge anyone experiencing cold or COVID-19 symptoms – including coughing, sneezing, loss of taste or smell – to stay home to rest, recover, and help prevent the spread of virus and disease.

Not everyone who gets infected with Covid will have the same symptoms, nor the same intensity of symptoms; and some will be asymptomatic.

Dr. Begg said that, over time, there's been a definite difference in the major symptoms of people coming to the emergency room.

"The really sick ones at the beginning of the pandemic had the fever and respiratory symptoms," he said. "Now they don't have that, and that's why the pandemic is continuing on," because of people who are asymptomatic.

"The basic tenets of care for those who have Covid have not changed, but the group of patients coming in and the severity has changed," Dr. Begg said. The criteria for admission is the same, primarily an oxygen level that is "not ideal," and existing medical conditions that are worsening due to Covid.

The percentage of patients admitted to ICU has changed, though.

"Most don't have to go [to ICU], which is good," he said. "We believe that's the result of being vaccinated, and maybe some of the variants are less severe."

An underlying health condition – such as obesity, diabetes or heart condition – is one of the big risk factors for developing severe Covid symptoms, Dr. Begg said.

"As the variants come and go, there are different types of monoclonal antibodies and oral agents that outpatient doctors can prescribe, as well," he said. "If you fit criteria there's some paxlovid, that's one of the more recent ones. For the doctor to potentially get those, they are typically prescribed to a patient with more severe symptoms and other medical conditions."

Asked what symptoms would warrant a trip to urgent care or the ER, Dr. Begg said, "Without a doubt, if someone is having trouble breathing or a worsening of their baseline medical problem. Covid can present in many different ways." For example, if someone's emphysema suddenly worsens or if a new symptom develops, that would be a concerning development.

Regular testing doesn't identify variants

The New York State Department of Health notes Omicron is the prevalent strain, but information on sub-variants is not locally available.

"When one looks at the variants, that's a send-out [test]," said Dr. Begg. "Trying to determine the variant takes a lot longer, limited labs to do that work, and it costs more. It's a lot more in-depth. When you're trying to get down into the type of variant, it's more labor-intensive and time consuming."

Dr. Begg said Vassar and all hospitals are required to report to the state what their daily Covid rate is, as well as vaccination rates.

"A select number of our tests are done off-site, at the state's discretion," he said.

Between May 1 and May 7, the CDC's program for HHS Region 2 (New York, New Jersey, Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico) estimated 100 percent of samples were the Omicron variant. During this time period, 0.2 percent of Omicron sequences were lineage BA.1, 33.5 percent were BA.2 and 66.3 percent were BA.2.12.1.

Vaccine & Testing information

Residents can receive free vaccinations, including booster shots, Mondays and Wednesdays, 10 a.m.-3 p.m., at the Dutchess County Immunization Clinic inside the Family Partnership Center, 29 North Hamilton St. in Poughkeepsie. Appointments are required and can be made by calling (845) 486-3455. To find a vaccination site near you, visit www.dutchessny.gov/covidvaccine.

Dutchess County, in partnership with Seneregene Systems, offers free COVID testing at the former JCPenney at the Poughkeepsie Galleria at 2001 South Road in Poughkeepsie. Testing is offered Tuesdays and Thursdays, 1-7 p.m., and Saturdays, 9 a.m.-noon. A list of additional local testing locations is available on the county's website: www.dutchessny.gov/Departments/DBCH/Collection-Sites-for-Testing-in-Dutchess-County.htm.

For more details on CDC community level determination and prevention, see <https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/your-health/covid-by-county.html>. Information about local vaccine availability and other COVID-19 updates is available at www.DutchessNY.gov/Coronavirus or call the DBCH at (845) 486-3555.

On May 12, Gov. Kathy Hochul noted the "unthinkable milestone" of one million Americans losing their lives to COVID-19.

"These were mothers, fathers, children, siblings, friends and neighbors, and I don't want any more New Yorkers to go through the pain of losing a loved one to this awful virus," said Gov. Hochul. "Thankfully, we have the tools to fight COVID-19 and save lives. Vaccines and boosters are effective and provide the highest level of protection."

The Governor encourages every New Yorker age 5 and older to get vaccinated, and every New Yorker age 12 and older to get booster doses if eligible.

Catcher Wells leads team in several key categories

by Rich Thomaselli

If you get down to Dutchess Stadium to catch a Hudson Valley Renegades game anytime soon, take a long look at catcher Austin Wells.

He might not be here that long. Wells leads the Renegades with a .330 average, leads the team with six home runs in 32 games, and is tied for the team lead with 16 RBI. His 32 hits also lead the Renegades.

Wells was selected by the Yankees in the first round of the 2020 Major League Baseball Player Draft in 2020 out of the University of Arizona. He was the 28th overall selection.

He was always a highly regarded prospect, but Wells has been beyond impressive this season given that he – and all minor leaguers – missed the entire 2020 year when the season was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Now he's making up for it with a vengeance. Wells' OPS – on-base percentage plus slugging percentage – is an ungodly 1.024. And maybe the most impressive thing about him? At a position that screams more stocky, burly tough guy, Wells is surprisingly fast. He has stolen nine bases this year without being caught and, in fact, is 24-for-his-last-24 dating back to last season.

Whether he advances as a catcher remains to be seen but Wells is versatile enough to learn and play another position.

For now, the next logical step is to be reunited with last year's Renegades manager Dan Fiorito, who is now managing the Yankees' Double A team in Somerset, N.J.

Slump drops Renegades to 15-17 on the season

by Rich Thomaselli

It's official.

The Hudson Valley Renegades are mired in one of their worst slumps in years.

The area's High Class A minor league baseball team, an affiliate of the New York Yankees, lost their fifth straight game and eighth in the last 11 games on Sunday afternoon in a 3-2 defeat to the Aberdeen (Md.) IronBirds at Dutchess Stadium.

Hudson Valley is now 15-17 overall.

The Renegades have yet to complete a quarter of their schedule, but are already 9.5 games behind the scorching 24-7 IronBirds in the South Atlantic League's North Division.

Hudson Valley struck first in the bottom of the first inning against Aberdeen starter Jean Pinto. Cooper Bowman and Austin Wells banded back-to-back doubles to produce a run and make it 1-0 Renegades.

The IronBirds responded in the top of the second inning on a Billy Cook sacrifice fly to tie the game at one.

Hudson Valley starter Blas Castaño lasted 4.2 innings, allowing one run on five hits, striking out four and walking one.

The Renegades jumped ahead in the bottom of the sixth against Ignacio Feliz. Carlos Narvaez doubled to lead off the inning and came around to score on a wild pitch to give Hudson Valley a 2-1 lead.

In the top of the seventh, Donta' Williams launched a solo homer to right field off Alex Mauricio to level the score at two.

In the top of the ninth against Jhonatan Muñoz, John Rhodes lifted a sacrifice fly to give the IronBirds a 3-2 lead. The go-ahead run was charged to Wellington Diaz (2-1), who allowed Connor Pavolony to reach base earlier in the frame.

Nick Roth (1-1) fired two scoreless innings of relief for Aberdeen. Jake Prizina closed it out to earn his second save, striking out one in a scoreless ninth. After doubling with two outs and advancing on an error, James Nelson was caught stealing home for the final out of the game.

Hudson Valley was scheduled to start a six-game series on the road at Brooklyn on Tuesday.

GLINER'S KORNER

Adjusting to weekly schedules, longer seasons and game times

Every week, Hudson Valley Renegades President Steve Gliner sits down with reporter Rich Thomaselli to discuss the team in particular, and minor league baseball in general.

So you were just home for a week and now head back on the road for a week. Tell me how much easier it is to play a week at a time instead of 12 games in 13 days.

From a standpoint of consistency, it's great. We know we're playing Tuesday through Sunday. It's easy. When fans know that we're home, were home Tuesday through Sunday. As I've said a couple of times, the biggest adjustment for us is having fans recognize we're playing in April and May instead of starting in June like we did for 25-26 years.

You're in a league now in High Class A filled with teams that haven't had to make that adjustment.

You have all these other teams that were always full season that played in April and May and the biggest thing for them is there hasn't been a drastic change. For us, Brooklyn and Aberdeen, that's been the biggest adjustments. Now the weather is starting to change but when it's colder and school is going on you have people who say, 'You know, I might wait until the weather gets warmer.' But it's mid-May now and it's definitely getting better.

You always talk about having conversations with the other presidents and general managers of Yankees' farm teams, do you talk to other teams in the South Atlantic League about how they're adjusting or have made the adjustment to full-season?

We've had some conversations among ourselves and we're all experiencing the same thing. Last year was not a great year to gauge that and have those restrictions on capacity in place for much of the season because of the pandemic. I think two or three years down the road from now we'll learn from that and make adjustments, maybe with game times or even promotions. Like, we did a lot with our promotions in April and May and that didn't move the needle as much as we would like. No matter what you do, you can't predict the weather when you create a promotion schedule in January.

What do you mean about fiddling with the game times, especially on a week-night?

A lot of teams start their games at 6:30 p.m., some even at 6 p.m. We've always started at 7:05 and if you look at the trends with temperatures they drop quickly. We've always been very consistent at starting at 7:05, but if you start an hour earlier, even a half-hour, you get more sunlight and warmer temperatures. Look at our Sunday home games. This is the first year in 25 years we've played Sunday games earlier than 4:30 (games now start at 2:05 on Sunday afternoons). We've gotten feedback that people have really enjoyed that.

'Tackling Ticks on the Big Screen' set May 25 at Overlook Drive-In

In recognition of Lyme Disease Awareness Month, New York State Senator Sue Serino and Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro are teaming up to host, "Tackling Ticks on the Big Screen," a free family movie night aimed at bringing critical information and resources to the community in a fun, family-oriented way.

The event will feature a special presentation of DreamWorks movie "Over the Hedge," and each family in attendance will receive informational materials they can use to help them stay "tick-free." The free event will be held on Wednesday, May 25 at the Overlook Drive-In Theatre in the Town of Poughkeepsie with the gates opening at 6:30 p.m. and the movie beginning at sunset.

"Kids are at the highest risk for coming into contact with ticks, and with the weather getting warmer and all of us spending more time outside, it has never been more important to remain vigilant," said Serino. "This free family movie night will put critical information and resources in the hands of families while presenting it in a fun and interactive way so they understand the signs and sympoms of Lyme and tick-borne diseases while learning the best strategies for prevention. I hope local families will take advantage of this opportunity and join us for this event and do all that they can to stay tick-free!"

Molinaro said, "Dutchess County's natural grandeur takes full shape in these warmer months, but residents and visitors must be mindful to take simple steps to limit their exposure to tick-borne illnesses when they enjoy all our community has to offer. Sen. Sue Serino has long raised awareness about Lyme Disease and other maladies carried by ticks, and Dutchess County is proud to partner with her for this free night of family fun and education about the precautions we can all take to stay tick-free." Thanks to the generosity of the Overlook Drive-In Theatre, this event is free and open to the public. Concessions will be available to purchase, and no outside food or drink is permitted. Families and individuals interested in attending are encouraged to RSVP and can do so by calling Senator Serino's Hyde Park Office at 845-229-0106 or by emailing serino@nysenate.gov. To learn more, please call 845-229-0106.

Hudson Valley Gives was created by the Community Foundation of Orange and Sullivan (CFOS) in partnership with the Mid-Hudson Valley Chapter of the Association of Fundraising Professionals (AFP). The purpose of this day of giving (May 18) is to create a solid focal point of fundraising for their individual organizations and missions.

CCEDC will join non-profits across the region for the 2022 Hudson Valley Gives campaign. We seek to evolve our brand with new and innovative offerings to stay on the cutting edge of community needs and in the hearts of individuals across Dutchess County and the Hudson Valley Region.

As we forge ahead into 2022, we want to rebuild, create, and expand opportunities to improve the quality of life of individuals and communities across Dutchess County. With our innovative and diverse educational programs and support services, CCEDC puts knowledge to work in pursuit of economic vitality, ecological sustainability, and social well-being. We bring local experience and research based solutions together, showcasing the dynamic ways that CCEDC staff continue to help families and communities thrive in our rapidly changing world.

Stop U. S. slide toward war over Ukraine

To the editor:

The deaths in Ukraine, and the millions fleeing as refugees, are in large part the creation of U. S. policy, which aimed to weaken a resurgent Russia by stoking tensions in Ukraine against ethnic Russians there, hoping to lure Russia into a quagmire.

The first step was to midwife a coup, in 2014, installing a Ukraine government which restricted Russian language use, leading to revolt in areas with many Russian speakers. Diplomatic efforts failed.

Russia, while supporting the ethnic Russians, agreed to a European-brokered deal to resolve the disputes, the Minsk and Minsk II Agreements, never implemented.

Instead, Ukraine, encouraged by the U. S., planned to resolve the issue with force.

Russia marched 100,000 soldiers in the vicinity as a warning, but still there was no diplomatic resolution.

Leading to the Russian invasion. As Israeli Prime Minister Bennett said, Ukraine should have surrendered, seeking an armistice. Instead, the U.S. and Europe supplied weapons, and Ukraine fought on, with widespread destruction, loss of life, five million refugees, and threats to global food supplies, while Russia took chunks of territory.

The U.S., supplying weapons and intelligence to Ukraine, is effectively a party to the war, one nuclear power confronting another, heading towards nuclear war. This is insanity, for the issues have straightforward diplomatic solutions.

The key issues are (1) two languages (Ukrainian and Russian) in one country; (2) Russian concern about potential hostile military buildup in neighboring Ukraine.

The first problem has been solved peacefully in several nations (e. g., Canada and Belgium accommodating minority languages). And Ukrainian and Russian are much closer than the two languages in those other places.

The second problem was solved in Austria and Finland, countries choosing to be outside military camps (Finland may reverse that stance, another consequence of the Ukraine situation). Older folks may remember the Cuban Missile Crisis, with the world on the brink of nuclear war over Soviet missiles in Cuba. The crisis was solved when Soviet missiles were removed from Cuba and U.S. missiles were removed from Turkey, simple win-win diplomacy.

Instead, U S. leaders are playing geostategic chess, using Ukrainians and U.S taxpayers as pawns, aiming to weaken Russia. U.S. Defense Secretary Lloyd Austin stated that last point openly.

In going along with our government's edging into war with Russia over Ukraine, the U.S. Congress has failed its constituents. Stop the march to war now.

County encourages infant formula collection

Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro has announced the County is partnering with Community Action Partnership for Dutchess County to encourage donations of infant formula for local families, as supply chain issues and product recalls have created a nationwide shortage of many infant formula products.

As the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) works closely with manufacturers to increase production and bring supplies back to normal levels, Dutchess County has asked local residents to donate their unused, unopened, unexpired infant formula to benefit local families in need of this critical resource. These excess supplies can be donated and provided to families in need through a partnership with Community Action Partnership.

Dutchess residents are asked not to purchase formula to donate, as this may further reduce supplies for families; but rather, only donate these resources if they already have them in their home. Residents interested in financially contributing to support purchasing formula for families in need can donate online to Community Action Partnership for Dutchess County online at dutchesscap-proof.presencehost.net/how_to_help/donate.html or by calling (845) 452-5104.

Drop-off of unused, unopened, unexpired infant formula can be made at four locations throughout Dutchess County:

- Poughkeepsie 77 Cannon Street, Monday through Friday, 1-4:30 p.m.
- Beacon, 10 Eliza Street, Monday through Friday, 1-4:30 p.m.
- Dover, 3414 Route 22, Monday through Friday, 1-4:30 p.m.
- Red Hook, 44 East Market St., Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 1-4:30 p.m.

‘Tales of Mark Twain’ set May 21-22 at The Stissing Center

“Samuel Clemens: Tales of Mark Twain” will wrap up its local performances at The Stissing Center in Pine Plains on Saturday, May 21, 7 p.m.; and Sunday, May 22, at 2 p.m. Tickets are $15 advance purchase and $20 at the door. All tickets are general admission.

This new and contemporary one-man show written and performed by Joe Baer tells the story of Samuel Clemens’ life, a tale that takes the audience on a journey that reflects how life and narrative become one. When Baer retired from a 30-year professional career in theater and television, he turned his attention to the on-stage aspects of theater, with history and one-man shows in mind.

This 1 hour 40-minute production has one intermission and is told in the context of the nearly eight decades in which Clemens lived. The performance is peppered throughout with passages and numerous snappers culled from Mark Twain’s many humorous works in front of a backdrop of historical visual projections. Act 2 includes condensed passages from Clemens’ masterwork, “Adventures of Huckleberry Finn.”

Said Baer, “Google Mark Twain and there is a plethora of articles about practically any topic from religion, to the Civil War, to racism, politics, travel and comedy. Part of the appeal of Mark Twain for me is that he has an ability to address the problems and complexities of his day in ways that still resonate in our time. His quotes transfer from one decade to the next. His characters are expansive and address cross sections of human qualities. And, above all, he uses humor and wit to start the conversation.”

If you enjoy history and story-telling with a satirical twist, you won’t want to miss this new solo show.

Visit www.BaerhandsTheater.com for ticket information.

The Stissing Center is at 2950 Church St. in Pine Plains.

Student art show livens cafe

For over a decade and a half, Dan Budd, owner of Taste Budds Cafe in Red Hook, has invited iStation Art to exhibit student artwork with much enthusiasm. This month's exhibit is of a variety of subjects, chosen by the students themselves. Each tells its own story, whether of a family friend, favorite band, a lovely lotus or tree that caught the artist's attention or something else that may have been of keen interest.

The paintings vary from being heart-warming, to stylish or striking. From fifth graders to high schoolers and adults, instructor Kevin Rifenburg conducts lively inspiring sessions. Rifenburg himself studied art at Bard College, Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts; Lesley College of Art & Design for his masters.

The exhibit will be on display through May 31. Taste Budds Cafe is at 40 West Market St., Red Hook.

Two of the artworks featured in the May art show at Taste Budds in Red Hook are (left) "Mom and Baba" by Laurie Henzel and (right) "Paul" by Dana Weidman

Laurie Henzel is inspired by women, the tarot, and female Surrealists as Leonora Carrington. Dana Weidman a professor of film has recently learned to draw and paint and now applying in her paintings what she teaches with visual communication.

STOMP to perform at UPAC May 26

STOMP, the international percussion sensation, returns to UPAC in Kingston on Thursday, May 26, at 8 p.m. From its beginnings as a street performance in the UK, STOMP has grown into an international sensation over the past 20 years, having performed in more than 50 countries and in front of more than 24 million people. Created by Luke Cresswell and Steve McNicholas, STOMP continues its phenomenal run with four global productions: the ongoing sell-out production at New York's Orpheum Theatre, a permanent London company, and North American and European tours.

Throughout its life, the show has continued to change by creating new material; this year it will incorporate two new pieces. It is safe to say you will never again look at supermarket carts or plumbing fixtures the same way... or paint cans, or kitchen sinks or...

STOMP, an overwhelming success marked by rave reviews, numerous awards, and sell-out engagements, is the winner of an Olivier Award for Best Choreography (London's Tony Award), a New York Obie Award, a Drama Desk Award for Unique Theatre Experience, and a Special Citation from Best Plays.

Tickets start at $39. Purchase through the Bardavon Box Office, (845) 473-5288; the UPAC Box Office, (845) 339-6088; or email at boxoffice@bardavon.org.

Two local artists reflect distinct hallmarks of each half of 20th century

by Bill Jeffway

They both grew up in Poughkeepsie, although one went to Poughkeepsie High School, and the other went to Arlington. They both had an artistic eye that resulted in their work gaining international attention. But the very different tenor and style of their work reflects the very different times they lived in: one in the first half of the 20th century, the other in the second half.

Ernest Hamlin Baker (1889-1975) grew up on Church Street in Poughkeepsie, the son of a shirt factory worker. He graduated from Poughkeepsie High School in 1903 and started working at the same factory. By 1906 he had taken a correspondence course in drawing and started creating cartoons for Poughkeepsie's Evening Enterprise, a Democratic leaning newspaper just as there was a resurgence of support for Democrats. The resurgence included the surprising election of Democratic State Senator Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1910, in his first political bid. FDR won again in 1912 and was then appointed Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

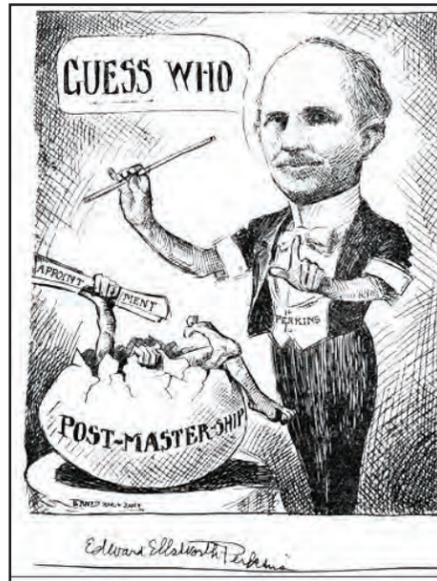

Among DCHS Collections that relate to Edward Perkins, a Poughkeepsie man who was head of the Dutchess County Democratic party at the time (his service as county and then state chairman of the Democratic party stretched from 1910 to 1944, parallel to FDR's political career), is a cartoon of Perkins "orchestrating" a post office appointment that ran in the Evening Enterprise in 1913. Perkins seems to have clipped it out, signed it, and pasted it with pride in his scrapbook (see image).

Hamlin went to Colgate College in 1910 and continued drawing, including for the Enterprise. After college, he created a noted World War One poster, and started to get into magazine covers by the 1920s.

A 1946 critical review of Baker's work explained that as Time magazine covers were becoming iconic works in the 1930s, there was less and less time for the artist to complete the work. This prompted the illustrator Baker to rely on photographs. But rather than take inspiration from a single photograph, he reviewed as many photographs as Time could provide to him, studying them in great detail and coming to know varying expressions and details. It was said of Baker, "the human face for him became a vast landscape to be explored as by a traveler." And it was from the volume of photographs, not a single photograph, that he drew from. Baker created over 300 covers for Time (more than any other person) with striking illustrations and set a new style in journalism.

By the 1930s and 1940s, Baker's fellow Dutchess County friends like

William Linich

Among the less likely class of items in DCHS Collections are oral histories. One we draw from today is a 2010 interview conducted by Nan Fogel with William Linich (1940 -2016). Linich was known as "Billy Name" in the 1960s when he collaborated in New York City with Andy Warhol. At the end of the interview, Linich inscribed the published book of his photographs for DCHS: "Billy Name, Stills from the Warhol Films" (Prestel, New York, 1994).

From the Estate of Billy Name we find this quote, "I came out in 1958, in my senior year of [Arlington] high school. I told people I was a homosexual, even though I hated that word. I was just using it because it was available. It was such a relief to have it come into the public eye and have it be open, open, open until it was a blossom." Citing this as among the reasons he moved to New York City in the late 1950s, Linich and Warhol's paths crossed at Linich's apartment.

Linich held haircutting parties in the apartment he transformed for himself into a floor-to-ceiling, wall-to-wall silver with a combination of foil and silver paint. Warhol came to one of those parties in November of 1963 and so loved the silver that Warhol asked Linich to install the same at Warhol's "factory" or studio. Linich often referenced the fact that growing up he would see the Mid-Hudson Bridge regularly painted silver and this left an impression in his mind.

Warhol gave Linich (by then known as Billy Name) a still camera that he would no longer use as Warhol was moving into movies. This is how Billy Name came to take the many thousands of iconic photographs of the historic period. Linich was at the factory when Andy Warhol was shot and nearly killed, holding Warhol in his arms until the ambulance arrived.

The US Post Office published a Warhol commemorative stamp in 2002. The stamp itself is a Warhol self-portrait in a photo booth, but the image used in packaging a set of them uses a photo of Warhol by Linich.

The estate of Bill Name references two quotes of Andy Warhol that are illuminating. Warhol said "Billy was responsible for the silver at the factory. It was the

Mom and the donut

Changing a flat tire is an adventure in the Coppola family.

Last week, my son Marcanthony got a flat tire. He called me to tell me he was OK and not to worry. He told me he had to change a flat tire and he remembered how to do it, because I had showed him 10 years earlier when he got his first car. As he told me his story about the jack, it brought me back a number of years when my mother got a flat tire.

I had gotten a call from my sister-in-law. Apparently, my mother was driving my nephew to school and she had a blowout. She told me that Mom was probably going to need some help and could I assist her. I had called Mom up on her cell phone fully expecting to not be getting an answer because she was not 100% sure how to use her cell phone. Surprisingly, she answered.

Mom: Ello.
 Me: Mom, this is Luigi. You OK?
 Mom: Who told you?
 Me: Mom, do you need me to come change the tire?
 Mom: No Ia calleda the towa truck. Who told you?
 Me: You sure, Mom? I can be there in 5 minutes.
 Mom: No Ima OK.

I hung up the phone not feeling too confident, so I called Pop who was at home. Unfortunately, no one answered. I figured he was outside and probably would be back in a few minutes. Five minutes later, Pop calls me.

Pop: Nick, John, Anthony, Luigi, Vinny.
 Me: It's Luigi, Pop.
 Pop: OK, listen Momma she gotta the flat tire.
 Me: Do you want me to go fix it?
 Pop: Imma not sure.
 Me: Pop, listen. I can be there in 5 minutes. I'll take care of it. OK?
 Pop: OK.

I grabbed my toolbox and jumped in my car. On my way there I was laughing to myself thinking of what I'd find. When I arrived, it was much worse and funnier than I expected.

Mom is parked in the middle of the road with her hazards on. Pop is parked in his pickup truck right behind her with his hazards on. Traffic is backed up behind both of them.

Shaking my head in disbelief, I park my car, grab my toolbox and run down to the scene of the blowout. First thing I do is tell Pop to move his truck and park it in the school parking lot, which is literally 50 feet away. Next I tell Mom to get into the passenger seat and I drive the car with the flat to the school parking lot. All the while Mom is yelling at me because I can't drive the car with a flat tire and she is not going to be able to go to the beauty parlor to get her hair done tomorrow morning and it's been 6 weeks since she had it done last and she has to go.

Once I park, Mom looks at the car with the blown tire and she has no idea how I'm going to fix this mess.

Me: Mom, first we are going to get the spare tire out.

Mom: Where is the spare? I looked, there is nothing in the trunk.

Me: Mom, look. You pick up the car-pet, and its right there.

Mom: Somanagun. Thatsa no big nough?

Me: Mom, this is a donut.
 Mom: I no lika the donuts. I like biscotti.

Me: No Mom, this is called a donut. Oh, forget it.

Mom: How you gonna to pick up the car.

Me: (I reach into the trunk) With this, Mom. This is a jack.

Mom: Donta call Jack. He isa doing his homework. You don't need him (Jack is my other nephew)

Me: No, Mom, listen, this is called a jack.

Pop: Yeah, you no calla Jack. Ima gonna help you.

Me: (I slap my head in exasperation. I take a deep breath.) Listen, Pop, you go home and get dinner going. I promise by the time you get done, Mom will be home. Mom, you go sit in my car and wait for me to fix this. OK?

Pop: OK
 Mom: OK

So now I jack up the car, remove the blown tire, replace it with the donut, lower the car and put everything away in the trunk. I then told Mom to wait for me, because I wanted to test drive it around the parking lot just to make sure everything was OK.

Once satisfied, I tell Mom, I'm going to follow her home. On the way home, I notice her putting the hazards on and off several time as I see in the radio antenna go up and down.

Once we get home, Pop is just finishing dinner. Pop made broccoli di rabe with garlic and olives. As I was walking into their house he was putting some in a Tupperware for me to take with me. I could smell the fresh loaf of bread baking.

The clincher was when I was walking out the kitchen door with my broccoli di rabe, my mother asks me yet again, "Can I still go getta my hair done witha thata donato on the car?"

It's never a dull moment in the Coppola house. Well at least I get fed.

BROCCOLI DI RABE

Ingredients

- 2 bunches broccoli rabe (about 2 pounds)

- 1/4 cup extra-virgin olive oil
- 1 clove garlic, crushed and coarsely chopped
- 1/2 small dried hot red chili pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup very small black olives (Kalamata), pitted

Directions

• Discard any coarse, yellowing or wilted broccoli rabe leaves. Cut away tough stems, leaving the flowers and stalks and the tender young side leaves. Thoroughly wash, leaving some water still clinging to the leaves.

• Heat oil over medium heat in a deep pot, large enough to hold all the broccoli rabe. Add garlic and chili pepper; cook, stirring, just until the garlic starts to soften, 1 to 2 minutes. Add the broccoli rabe by the handful, letting it wilt a bit before adding more. Cover and cook, stirring occasionally, until it is tender and just a few spoonful's of liquid remain in the pan, 15 to 20 minutes. (The water on the leaves should be plenty for cooking, but check the pan from time to time and add water if necessary.)

• Stir well to coat. Season with salt and stir in olives.

• Serve immediately with warm crusty Italian bread and a nice Pinot Grigio.

Luigi Coppola is one of five brothers born to Francesca and Antonio Coppola. The Coppola family came to America from Naples, Italy in 1954. Antonio and his brothers opened their first restaurant in Poughkeepsie in 1961. Luigi and his brothers Nick, John, Anthony and Vincent have carried on the family tradition in the way their parents taught them, using classic recipes taught to them at their apron strings. The heavy lines indicate areas, called cages, from one to five squares in size. Fill each cage with unique digits, counting up from 1. So for example a 2-square cage contains the numbers 1 and 2; and a 5-square cage contains the numbers from 1 to 5. Adjacent (touching) squares, even ones that touch diagonally, may never contain the same number.

Specialty vendors set for Mayfest on Walkway

Mayfest Farmers and Makers Market will showcase a curated selection of the Hudson Valley's finest producers – farms, distilleries, breweries, wineries, restaurants, artists, artisans, and more – at the Hudson Valley Rail Trail and west approach to Walkway Over the Hudson State Historic Park on Saturday, May 21 and Sunday, May 22 from 12-5 p.m.

Vendors will exhibit their wares for tasting or purchase, allowing participants to support several local agribusinesses in one location. For complete information, tickets, and a list of participants, visit walkway.org/mayfest.

"We're excited to host this event with the Hudson Valley Rail Trail again this year to support our local Hudson Valley farmers and makers," said Diane Haight, Interim Executive Director, Friends of the Walkway

With more than 150 vendors socially distanced throughout the Hudson Valley Rail Trail and the Walkway's Ulster Welcome Center Plaza (87 Haviland Road, Highland), Mayfest features not only farm-fresh products, food from local restaurants, and beer, wine and spirits samples in a designated tasting area, but also locally made goods, a special area for children's activities and more.

Local live music performances include: The 7eam on Saturday and Americana Oak on Sunday. All proceeds from Mayfest benefit the Friends of the Walkway and Hudson Valley Rail Trail, who have partnered to present this farmers market.

Starlight Studios will be returning with their Disney princesses and will be launching superheroes at the event, including Thor, Ironman, Black Panther, Captain America and Spiderman, sponsored by The Snooki Shop. Two By Two Petting Zoo will bring their furry friends to Mayfest on Sunday. The children's area also includes activities from Crazy for Art, Nature's Impact and Ronald McDonald House.

Tickets are only required for access to the Mayfest tasting area.

perfect time to think silver. Silver was the future, it was spacey – the astronauts wore silver suits – Shepard Grisson, and Glenn had already been up in them, and their equipment was silver, too. The only things that ever came close to conveying the look and feel of the factory then, aside from the movies we shot there, were the still photographs Billy took."

Transportation Council completes Poughkeepsie 9.44.55 study

The Dutchess County Transportation Council (DCTC) has announced the completion of Poughkeepsie 9.44.55, its detailed study of how to redesign the Route 9 interchange and Route 44/55 arterials in Poughkeepsie to make them safer, more reliable, and better integrated with nearby neighborhoods. A cooperative effort of the DCTC, New York State Department of Transportation (NYS-DOT), Dutchess County, and the City and Town of Poughkeepsie, Poughkeepsie 9.44.55 was funded by the Federal Highway and Transit Administration through the DCTC's planning program.

The 9.44.55 study, one of the DCTC's most ambitious planning efforts, was split into two phases: the first looking at redesign options for the Route 9 interchange near the Mid-Hudson Bridge, the second looking at redesign options for the Route 44/55 Arterials in the City and Town of Poughkeepsie. For the interchange, the study recommends replacing the existing "bow-tie" configuration with roundabouts, increasing the length of on-and off-ramps, and removing some of the awkward left-side merging movements. For the Arterials, the study recommends a pilot project to test a redesign that reduces each Arterial from three to two lanes of one-way traffic. At this point, no funding or schedule for actual construction has been identified by NYSDOT, who would be the project sponsor.

The study team developed the recommendations based on a detailed traffic simulation analysis and comprehensive public outreach process, knowing that people experience these facilities in different ways. The traffic simulation also provided insight into where bottlenecks might occur under several scenarios, including two-way traffic on the Arterials and various levels of traffic.

The DCTC considers the conclusion of Poughkeepsie 9.44.55 as the beginning of an ongoing conversation with the city, town, county, and state, and more importantly, with the many residents and visitors who use the Interchange and Arterials every day. The results of the study will inform ongoing coordination efforts and be used to leverage future funding opportunities.

The study documents, including an Executive Summary, are available on the project website at <https://www.poughkeepsie94455.com/library>. For more information, please visit the DCTC website at www.dutchessny.gov/dctc or contact us by email at dctc@dutchessny.gov or phone at (845) 486-3600.

Celtic Heels Irish Dance, The Center for Performing Arts at Rhinebeck, 661 Rte. 308, Rhinebeck. Red Hook resident, Joan McGrenaghan, her Co-Director, Meghan Craft, and their "Celtic Heels" Performance Troupe have been delighting audiences in the Hudson Valley and Western Massachusetts, for almost 40 years. Joan is first-generation American, whose parents hailed from County Cork and County Donegal, Ireland. Always honoring her ancestry and the "True Flavor of the Immigrants of Ireland," Joan's skilled personal choreography beautifully blends the vibrant toe-tapping, hand-clapping Old Ancestral Style of Irish Dance with today's popular more modern flair, 11 a.m. Tickets $10. Face-masks required. (845) 876-3080 or www.centerforperformingarts.org

"Clermont & Construction," Clermont State Historic Site, 1 Clermont Ave., Germantown. Since the 1730s, everyone who has lived or worked at Clermont has left their mark on the mansion. Over nearly 300 years, Clermont has been rebuilt after a fire, had wings added, had its flat roof pitched, had porches added and torn off, and has been repainted hundreds of times. Join Educator Emily Robinson for a presentation about Clermont's construction history, from the first generations of the Livingston family to today, 1 p.m. This program will be hosted at the Visitor Center. Movies with Spirit: "Woman at War," St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, 163 Main St., New Paltz. In the award-winning 2018 film, Halla (Halldora Geirharosdottir) is the 50-year-old choir director in the Icelandic Highlands who leads a double life. Behind the scenes, she is a one-woman saboteur, furtively fighting against the world's No. 2 metals and mining giant, which wants to build a Highlands aluminum smelter. As Halla's actions grow bolder, from petty vandalism to outright industrial sabotage, she succeeds in pausing negotiations between the Icelandic government and the Rio Tinto Group. But just as she starts planning her biggest and boldest operation yet, she receives an unexpected letter that changes everything: Her long-ago application to adopt a child has finally been accepted and a little girl is waiting for her in Ukraine. 7 p.m. In Icelandic, Spanish, English and Ukrainian with English subtitles. Run time: 1 hour 41 minutes, not rated. The screening will be followed by a facilitated discussion. Refreshments will be served. Attendees over age 12 are asked to contribute $10 a person. Robert Lewis Van Nest

Robert L. Van Nest passed away peacefully on January 5, 2022, at his home in Jacksonville, Florida. Born in Rhinebeck on February 27, 1938, Robert was the only child of Eugene Alexander Lewis Van Nest and Eryllynne (Sterner) Van Nest. Grandson of Lt. Col. Eugene A. Van Nest and Mary Regina (Near) Van Nest, he was also descended from the Rowe family of Milan. Born during The Great Depression, Robert was initially raised at Rowlands, the family farm on Academy Hill Road in Milan, where he lived with his parents, paternal grandparents, and uncle and aunt, Reginald Rawson Van Nest and Ruth (Quigley) Van Nest. After a few years, Robert and his parents moved to Poughkeepsie, and then to Sarasota, Florida, where he was graduated from high school and Florida Southern College, the oldest four-year private college in the state of Florida, with a degree in industrial arts. While at Florida Southern, Robert also took part in many choral groups and other musical activities. Blessed with a beautiful baritone voice of operatic quality, he won a scholarship to Fred Waring's Music Workshop in 1958, and appeared as the male lead in several adaptations of Broadway shows and other productions in Florida, including "South Pacific," "Guys and Dolls," "Pajama Game" and "Brigadoon." After college, Robert moved north and began a teaching career in industrial arts at the East Haven

Junior High School in Connecticut, continuing to sing in various productions and winning first place in the 111th East Haven Exchange Club talent competition. Shortly after, he sang the lead in "Bells Are Ringing" and accepted roles in several other theatre productions, including the Cheshire Community Theater, employing his carpentry skills in set construction and prop-making as well. In 1962, Robert joined International Voluntary Services (IVS), a private, nonprofit organization that placed American volunteers in development projects in third world countries, completing two teaching tours in Laos. Southeast Asia was the focus of the organization at that time, and during the early 1960s, eleven IVS volunteers were killed or died in accidents, and three were captured and imprisoned by the North Vietnamese. He continued singing and narrowly escaped the bombing of a Bangkok supper club where he was appearing. Robert often remarked that his time in Southeast Asia was the defining experience of his life, and fifty years later he returned to Laos with another IVS volunteer from the period, marveling at all of the changes that had taken place in the succeeding half century. Returning from Laos in 1966, Robert settled first in Rutland, Vermont, teaching industrial arts there and continuing to sing, appearing in "Little Mary Sunshine." He then returned to Connecticut, to again teach in the East Haven Junior High School and to sing in musical theatre in the area, appearing in Yale Repertory Theatre productions with Sigourney Weaver and Meryl Streep in 1974 and 1975. He also traveled frequently to New York City during that period, to collaborate with a young composer on the lead in a bible-based musical she was writing, entitled "Jericho." After a time, Robert again moved south, first to Rockingham, North Carolina, and then to Jacksonville, Florida, where he was engaged in the carpentry and building trades as the master craftsman that he had become. He passed away surrounded by his beloved cats and the hallmarks of the craft that he had practiced for more than 60 years. Robert is survived by his two first cousins, Priscilla Albertson (Randall) of Red Hook and Elizabeth Van Nest of Troy, as well as several other cousins, nieces, nephews, and close friends in Florida. Arrangements are private through Dapson Chestney Funeral Home in Rhinebeck with burial at the convenience of the family in the Old Stone Church Cemetery beside his grandmother as was his wish. Those wishing to make donations in Robert's memory may do so to a local animal shelter of their choice.

Purchase flags for Hyde Park's Field of Honor

The Hyde Park Education Foundation (HPEF) is sponsoring its third Field of Honor® on Memorial Day weekend, May 28-30, on the lawn in front of the Home of Franklin D. Roosevelt National Historic Site, on Route 9 in Hyde Park. The Field of Honor is a display of 200+ American flags, 3' x 5', mounted on 8' poles.

At the HPEF website, <https://www.HydeParkEducationFoundation.org>, flags can be purchased or dedicated; click on "Sponsor a Flag." Each flag purchased can be labeled in memory or in honor of a veteran, a fallen soldier, or anyone the buyer wishes to remember. To make a sponsorship donation, visit the website or send an email to HPEF12538@gmail.com for more information.

Proceeds from this event will benefit the Hyde Park Education Foundation.

The Hyde Park Field of Honor opening ceremony will take place on Saturday, May 28, at 10 a.m. There will be live, local entertainment and a kids' tent for activities, crafts and games on Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

On Monday at 2 p.m., after the Hyde Park Memorial Day Parade, FDR High School Music alumni will perform a concert on the Main Stage.
